All the way back in the year 1986, someone at the video distribution & adult film production company, Excalibur Films, had the idea to license some hentai OVAs from Japan, dubb them, and then try selling them in North America. In result, the very first officially licensed & localized hentai OVAs sold in the U.S.A.. Including the only Cream Lemon OVA episodes which have so far been officially localized and released in English.

No more hentai titles would be licensed, localized, and offered by any other publisher in the English North American market until seven years later, in August 1993.
