In the early 2010's through year 2020 Media Blasters used 'Production On Demand' (PoD), DVD-R, for many of their new and previously existing DVD catalog titles. In November 2020, Media Blasters addressed consumer concerns over quality issues with the PoD DVD-R media and announced they would move back to using pressed DVDs, albeit in very limited production run quantities, for DVD releases starting in 2021.

Media Blasters PoD DVD releases confusingly appear to share catalog numbers with their pressed disc release counterparts. However, the PoD DVDs are plainly marked on the backside of the case at bottom in a text box with the following notice: "This product is manufactured on demand using DVD-R recordable media.". Further easy visible identification can be made as the read-side of a DVD-R disc has a purple-ish color in appearance. Which titles are available only as regular DVDs, only as PoD DVD-Rs, or on both DVD media types, is not presently known.
